Committee to Call on President Taft Today

WASHINGTON — The Arizona constitution committee expects to call on President Taft today. The committee has telegraphic data of the vote cast for ratification of the constitution and will press claims of Arizona for statehood. It now looks as if the extra session will be called April 14th when the statehood matter will be introduced with vigor. If, perchance, failing in this, the 62nd congress is friendly enough to assure certainty of favorable consideration and adoption in December.

"Red" Lopez Leads Insurrectos

"Red" Lopez, well known in Tombstone and Cochise county points, according to reports was the leader of the insurrecto band of 300, which captured Fronteras yesterday and took one of the trains of the Douglas-Naco railroad.

Reports from Fronteras are to the effect that little fighting was indulged in and less than ten of the attacking party were killed. The town surrendered about noon and the victors were cheered by the populace.

"Red" Lopez speaks good English, is a daring character and is well known on this side of the line. He was in Bisbee and Tombstone less than a month ago and it is now believed he succeeded in enlisting a number of sympathizers in the rebel cause, who joined him in the Fronteras attack. It is reported that quite a number of Tombstone Mexican residents have joined the Madero cause and took prominent part in the Fronteras capture.

It is now reported that the next attack will be at Agua Prieta and Cananea, both points at present being heavily guarded by federal troops.

Old Spanish Cave Found Near Nogales

A report reached here from Nogales that a cave has been discovered in the mountain that lies west of the old Tumacacori mission, which is about four miles from Tubac on the Tucson road, containing a large amount of gold and silver plate, and old Spanish coins. The whole amount said to be valued at about ten thousand dollars. The names of the lucky finders could not be learned. The story of buried treasure near that point has been prevalent for a number of years.

Losing no Time in Exercising Rights

The newly enfranchised women of Washington state are losing no time in exercising their rights. They began the exercising by knocking the spots out of Seattle's mayor and now comes the news that a jury of women up there, fined a poor, defenseless man for swearing.

E. H. Stover, county school superintendent, returned this morning from an official visit to the public schools in the northern part of the county.

E. A. Shattuck Passes Away

E. A. Shattuck, after an illness of eleven months, died at his home at Ashland, Kansas on January 16th aged 63 years. The deceased was a former well known Cochise county resident, being under sheriff here for two terms during the administration of Sheriff J. H. Slaughter. After leaving here Mr Shattuck located in Kansas where he engaged in stockraising and was prominently identified with the commercial development of that city, being honored with political positions on various occasions, and was city alderman at the time of his death. He leaves a wife and son to mourn his loss and the many friends of the departed in Arizona join the Prospector in extending condolences to the bereaved family.

Lenten Season Begins Today

Lent, the 40 days and nights of fasting begins today, this being Ash Wednesday.

Lent begins with Ash Wednesday, the day of sack cloth and ashes of ancient rites, and ends with the glory burst of Easter. During the "forty evil days" many devout christians will give up eating meat and other luxuries, and when easter comes, feasting and new clothes proclaim that Lent is no more.

Steel Lined War Cars for Mexico

At Guyamas four steel lined war cars, each provided with 76 portholes for the guns of soldiers, and three at each end for rapid fire guns, have been turned out of the shops of the Consolidated Iron & Equipment company in Peralville and will be sent to the scene of the revolutionary troubles in Chihuahua.

Committee Is Received by Taft

Washington, D. C., March 1.—The Arizona Statehood Committee is much elated over the prospects of securing statehood at the extra session next month.

The committee called upon President Taft by appointment yesterday afternoon, the chief executive receiving the committee most cordially and was much interested in what was said. The President assured the delegation that he would act promptly upon the proposed constitution when it reached him. He spoke of the added prosperity and development of Arizona, certain to come with statehood, and that the nation would be glad to welcome the new star into the sisterhood of states as soon as possible. Perhaps the most significant remark made which inspired the committee with great hope was the president's encouraging observation that the special session would have an opportunity to act upon Arizona's constitution. This is indicated to mean that President Taft will take the same course with the Arizona constitution as he did with that of New Mexico and send it to congress with his recommendation for adoption. In this event Arizona will be admitted as a state in April.

Speculators Hopes Gone

The Cochise County seat removal matter received the final death blow today when both the House committee on territories and the Senate subcommittee, refused to report the measure—being left in the "morgue" which disposes of all further consideration of the bill.

Expected Battle Did Not Occur

From all accounts the expected battle at Naco between the rebels and federals did not occur today, as scheduled and "all is quiet along the line."

"Red" Lopez the well known Cochise Mexican who was leader of the rebel forces that captured Fronteras is thought to be head of the band who propose capturing the port of Naco. The federal troops at Naco are prepared for attack, but thus far have not ventured away from the city to disperse the band who are reported near. An attack is expected any time but thus far no hostile demonstrations are noticeable on either side. It may be the calm before the storm.

Many Mexican residents at Naco have moved to the American side of the line in view of impending trouble.

Col Pickett Interviewed at Washington

Of the Arizona Committeemen now in Washington, the Washington Post has the following to say of Col Pickett of Tombstone:—

"Col. H. L. Pickett, of Tombstone, is one of the leading democrats of Arizona, and made a strong fight for the adoption of the constitution. He is one of those prominently mentioned

Col Pickett Interviewed at Washington

Of the Arizona Committeemen now in Washington, the Washington Post has the following to say of Col Pickett of Tombstone:—

"Col. H. L. Pickett, of Tombstone, is one of the leading democrats of Arizona, and made a strong fight for the adoption of the constitution. He is one of those prominently mentioned as a candidate for United States senator in the event statehood is granted, and was the first man to advocate the election of senators by direct vote of the people. He said:

"The constitution is just such a constitution as the people demanded. They believe it is the most progressive constitution that has ever been framed, and that under it the people have the absolute right to determine the kind of laws under which they shall live. Among the admirable provisions in the constitution, there is one for an advisory vote at a primary election, for the selection or designation of United States senators, thus placing the power absolutely in the hands of the people to say who shall represent them."

"This constitution was ratified by the great majority of both political parties of the territory, and is, therefore, nonpartisan in character. All the leading newspapers of either party in the territory are urging our admission as a state under this constitution. While it is true that 20 per cent of the vote was against its ratification on election day, the whole territory is now enthusiastically for it. Arizonaans believe in the doctrine that a majority of the people shall rule."
